Pastor.

The Creameries in the East have all adopted a scheme of letting the price of butter regulate the price paid for milk. When butter is up the milk commands a higher price and goes down as the butter market falls. This sliding scale gives the best of satisfaction to both sides whenever it has been adopted.

John W. Mackay, the millionaire mine owner, is one of the latest accessions to the ranks of those who have become interested in the placers of the San Juan, says the Denver News. From reliable sources it is learned that Mr. Mackay has directed his manager in Colorado to outfit an expedition without delay for the gold fields.

It is predicted that souvenir coins of the Columbian Exposition will be as plentiful as blackberries in summer time. It will be impossible to prevent them from being counterfeited, as the fancy prices which the coins are bringing will be an incentive to counterfeiters. They can put as much silver in the counterfeit as in the genuine and still make 33 per cent profit on each coin.

There should never be another item like the one published from Ogden, which is that a carload of copper bullion passed through Ogden yesterday for the Carson City Mint. There is copper enough in this country; all it wants is calling out; all that it needs is a few miles of railroad and a little skillful working. The world has been joking for several years about carrying coal to New Castle. There is copper enough within a few miles of Carson City itself to supply that Mint with all it can use. Our resources are not half developed.—Hawthorne Bulletin.

The Nevada Legislature will meet one week from next Monday. As no county in the state will have a larger representation than under the old apportionment it will be as constitutional a body as that of all preceding Legislatures since 1881.—Journal.

This is not the proposition at all. The apportionment is unconstitutional because not based on population. The mining counties have been given the advantage over the agricultural and to do this, counties of small population were given a larger representation than the counties of greater population.

The Guards Reading Room.

The Carson Guards are now endeavoring to secure literature for their reading room, and request that all parties having books, periodicals, and papers to spare will leave them at the reading room.

STEWART'S DOUBLE PLAY.

He Gets a Silver Senator and helps a Relative.

The Senatorial deal in California by which Stephen White secures the Senatorship and W. W. Foot will get a cabinet office is said to have been engineered by Senator Stewart, he being interested in Mr. Foote because he is his brother-in-law. The Senator is also said to be desirous of seeing Stephen M. White in the Senate, and as Foot and White were the chief Democratic rivals for the Senatorship he thought it a good plan to kill two birds with one stone. Being on friendly terms with Mr. Cleveland he visited him in New York and there secured the promise of this goodly slice. Thereupon, it is said, he telegraphed Foot to withdraw from the Senatorial race at once and prepare to accept a place in the Cabinet. Mr. Foote promptly withdrew.

The San Francisco Chronicle says: Senator Stewart cannot be interviewed satisfactorily on the subject. He assumes an air of profound ignorance in reference to it and denies point blank some of the statements made as to his connection with the matter. The selection of Mr. Foote, however, is accepted as a fact in Washington, and already it is asserted that strong railroad influence materially aided Senator Stewart in his effort to provide a place for his relative. As Postmaster General Mr. Foote would of course have much to do with the railroads.

It is interesting now to know who will be Mr. Foote's associates in the Cabinet. This is the slate given out by a rabid Cleveland man to-night: Senator Eustis of Louisiana, Secretary of State; Senator Carlisle of Kentucky, Secretary of the Treasury; Patrick Collins of Boston, Secretary of War; Daniel Lamont of New York, Secretary of the Navy; Wm. R. Morrison of Illinois, Secretary of the Interior; W. W. Foote of California, Postmaster-General; Don Dickinson of Michigan, J. Randolph Tucker of Virginia, or Congressman Culberson of Texas, Attorney-General. The Secretary of Agriculture will come from Wisconsin and will probably be Congressman Clinton Dabbitt.

Proposed Water Compromise.

The long and needless war between the Carson Valley ranchers and the Carson river men stands in a fair way of being settled. The proposed basis of compromise is as follows:

The Mill Company and the ranchers to enter into a stipulation that the mills take a decree for 6,000 inches of water from Sept. 15th each year to June 15th of the following year, and for 5,000 inches from June 15th to July 15th of each year, the ranchers to have all the balance of the water flowing the river, and from July 15th to Sept. 15th of each year the ranchers to have all of the water flowing naturally in the river. The water to be measured at Cradlebaugh's Bridge in a box or gate to be constructed under the joint supervision of the ranchers and millmen. It is understood that 6,000 inches is about the quantity of water that will fill the Mexican ditch at Empire. The ranchers are to have sufficient water for domestic purposes and for watering stock at all seasons of the year without regard to the quantity in the river.

It is believed that the Mill Companies will accept the compromise.

A Needed Law.

What this State needs is a law which will reach such smooth accountants as Mulder. Lawyers say the law against swindling is so defective that it is almost impossible to secure a conviction. The next legislature should remedy these defects in such a way that confidence operators and common swindlers can be properly taken care of, when they begin operations in Nevada.

More Smooth Work.

A few days ago the Sheriff received a letter purporting to be from a woman in Galveston, Texas, saying that Mrs. Mulder was stopping with her and would kill both her and children and commit suicide if her husband was convicted. It is probable that Mrs. Mulder wrote the letter to create sympathy for her husband.

Mulder Escapes.

Yesterday the case of Prof. Mulder, charged with petty larceny, was called in the Justice Court, and on a preliminary hearing his bail was fixed at $100, and the case was set for next Wednesday.

Warren Noteware was told to get his account books ready as evidence. The charge was that he had read a pair of opera glasses of Captain Noteware, and after he skipped out converted them into money.

On examining the books of the firm, however, Mr. Noteware discovered that his father had, at the end of the month, charged the glasses to Mulder, which made it simply an account against him only collectable by a civil suit. There was nothing left to do but to let him go, as the charge of larceny could not hold, and the case was dismissed. His victims, who were congratulating themselves that they would see him working on the streets with a ball and chain about his leg, were again disappointed.

Last evening he asked police protection on going to the train, which was given him. A large crowd was at the depot, and the cry of "Lynch him" was several times raised, but there was no attempt at violence, and he sat cowering and crying in his seat, the most frightened man ever seen in Carson.

His picture and record have been sent to the Police Gazette, and when published in that journal will be in the hands of every Chief of Police in the United States. In future his chances of working fresh communities will be pretty slim.

$25,000 Damages.

Notice of the commencement of a suit for the recovery of $25,000 damages against the Southern Pacific Company, was yesterday served on J. L. Wines, the agent of the company for Nevada, by Clark & Jones acting as attorneys for Mrs. Horace M. Johnson. The suit is brought to recover damages alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiff in the death of her husband, Horace M. Johnson, who was fatally injured on the 14th day of August of last year by falling from his engine in Humboldt county, which caused his death six days later. The complaint on file alleges that the death of the engineer was due to a defect in the engine which was running for the Southern Pacific Company, and which defect was known to the said company. The suit will be tried in the U. S. Circuit Court, Clark & Jones representing the plaintiff and Baker, Wines & Dorsey the defendant.—Journal.

A Chip of the Old Block.

The New York Journalist of Dec. 31, publishes the following:

All the old Pacific Coasters will remember the genial journalist—no newspaper man—Harry Mighels, who did so much to give Nevada prominence in her palmy days and to encourage her people when hard times came. No better all-around worker ever lived. He has long since "gone over the range," but it would seem that his genius was hereditary for his son, P. V. Mighels, who is employed on the San Francisco Chronicle, is developing much of his father's ability and promises to keep the name alive in a most creditable manner.

Correct.

Ormsby county is at last freed from the corrupt ring in whose clutches it has been held for years. The Silver party did the work at the last election. Old Ormsby is to be congratulated for shaking off its fetters and asserting its independence.—Silver State.
